

At the Bristol meeting there were 7 attendees sitting around 2 tables. Data were captured using the World Café approach to large group discussion, which yields a set of notes taken by table moderators during small group discussions taking place over multiple rounds. For the purpose of the Community Health Roundtable Meetings, participants were asked to address in their conversations the question, “What can you do to improve health in the community?” At the end of two rounds of small group discussion, notes were collected from the table moderators, or “Table Hosts”, to be used for a final large group discussion to allow for further comment and clarification. These notes have been collated and analyzed with the results presented below.

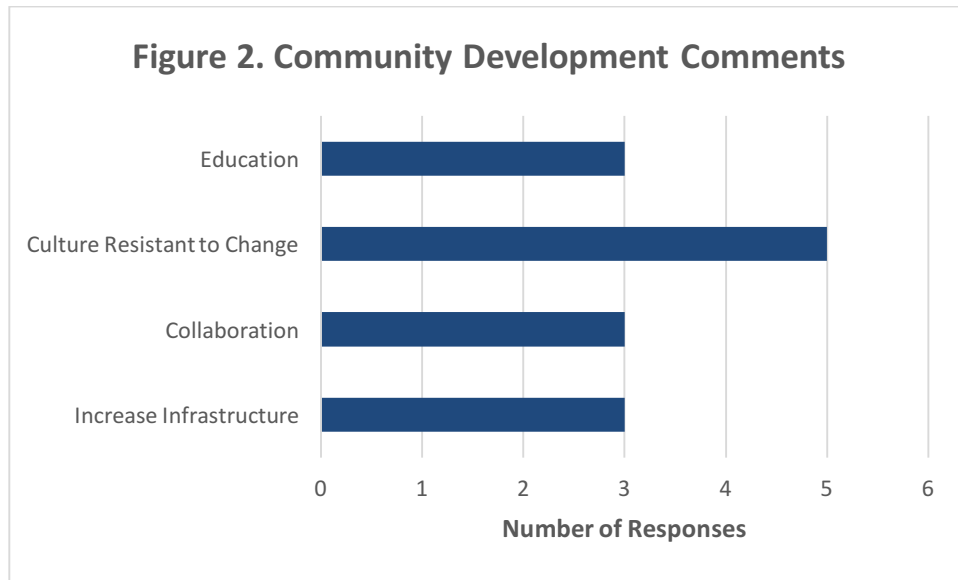

Main Topics of Discussion

These are major categories of discussion among the participants, within which several sub-categories were identified.

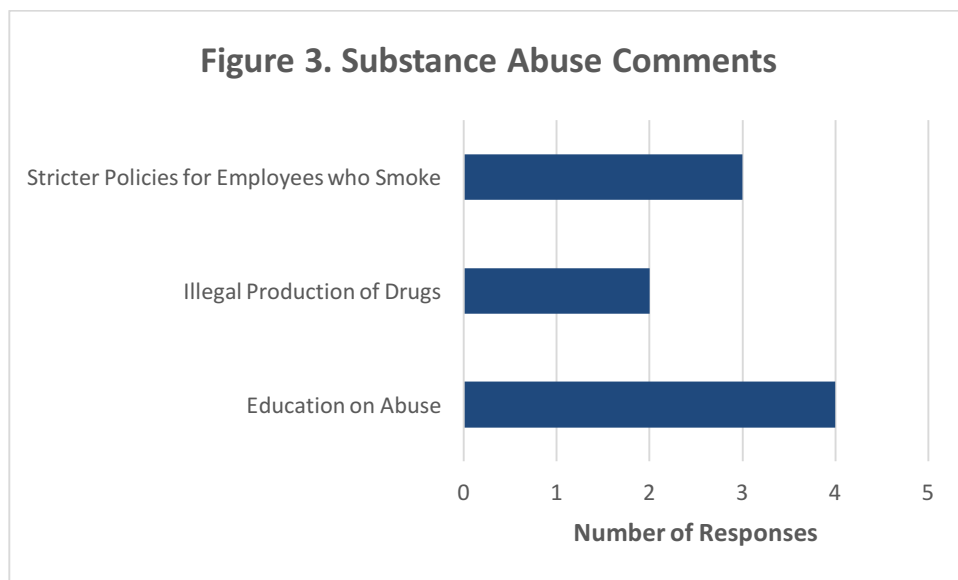

- Substance Abuse
- Nutrition and Physical Activity
- Access to Services
- Community Development

Community Development was the most talked about topic during the discussion. In order to identify specific categories within the discussion around community development, comments were broken out and considered individually. Topics under community development included the problem of culture being resistant to change, collaboration, education and increasing infrastructure. Figure 2 illustrates the Comment distribution within this topic.

Substance Abuse was the second largest topic of concern among the attendees. Focus areas within this topic included: increasing education on abuse, illegal production of drugs, and stricter policies for employees who smoke. Figure 3 shows the distribution of Comments around these categories.

Nutrition and Physical Activity was a prominent concern among the meeting participants. Folks indicated a need for incentivizing healthy activities, lack of availability of recreational areas and the need for discounts for healthy food. When discussing lack of availability of recreational areas, people mentioned the need for connecting people to the outdoors and increasing facilities for recreational activity. Figure 4 displays Comment frequencies for these subgroups.

Access to Services was a broad topic that was prevalent within every major discussion topic. Subgroups within the topic were the need for transportation, children’s therapy in schools and employee health programs. Participants indicated the need for transportation for children and for community members to receive health services. Figure 5 displays Comment frequencies within the subgroups.
